Here it is—this year at Eastern Kentucky University. It is sketchy at best, for even a thousand volumes of the 1968 MILESTONE could not completely recapture the events, the people, the moods of 1967-68. This is what we think; this is what we believe; this is what we would like you to consider.

Collectively, we were the student body of Eastern Kentucky University—not a very rebellious mass, but one engulfed in traditional rituals sadly tinged with apathy. We were a society of conformists and a few dissenters meshed together; we were like a giant patchwork quilt being pulled in one direction, then another, trying to discover a way. We were convincing ourselves, and others, that we were where we belonged and that we belonged where we were.

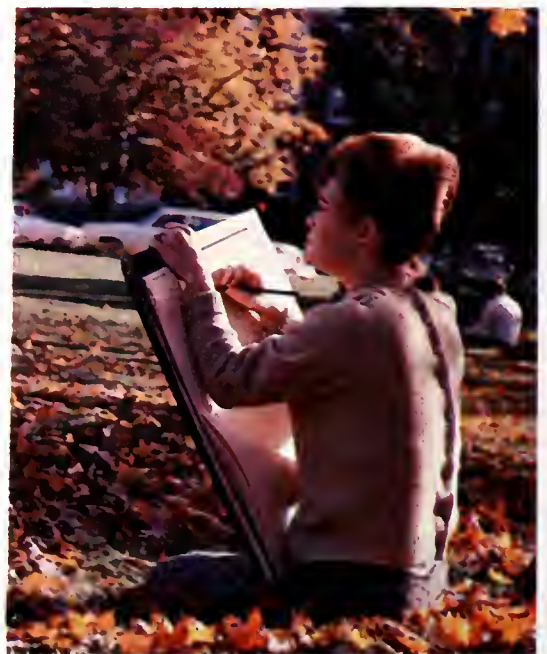

Searching focused our energies. We took new direction from our previous apparent aimlessness; we began to question, began to affirm, and more importantly, began to deny. We were emerging as individuals unto ourselves. We were no longer intellectually bound—not quite, but becoming, free.

Sundered from its shell, individualism, reinforced with a distinct set of inherent talents, gradually unfolded. Often, without consciously trying, we found ourselves, mirrored in the endeavors to which we gave most willingly.

Encouraged by our heritage, we forged paths into the wilderness, seeking to conquer social and intellectual frontiers which challenged us to find answers.

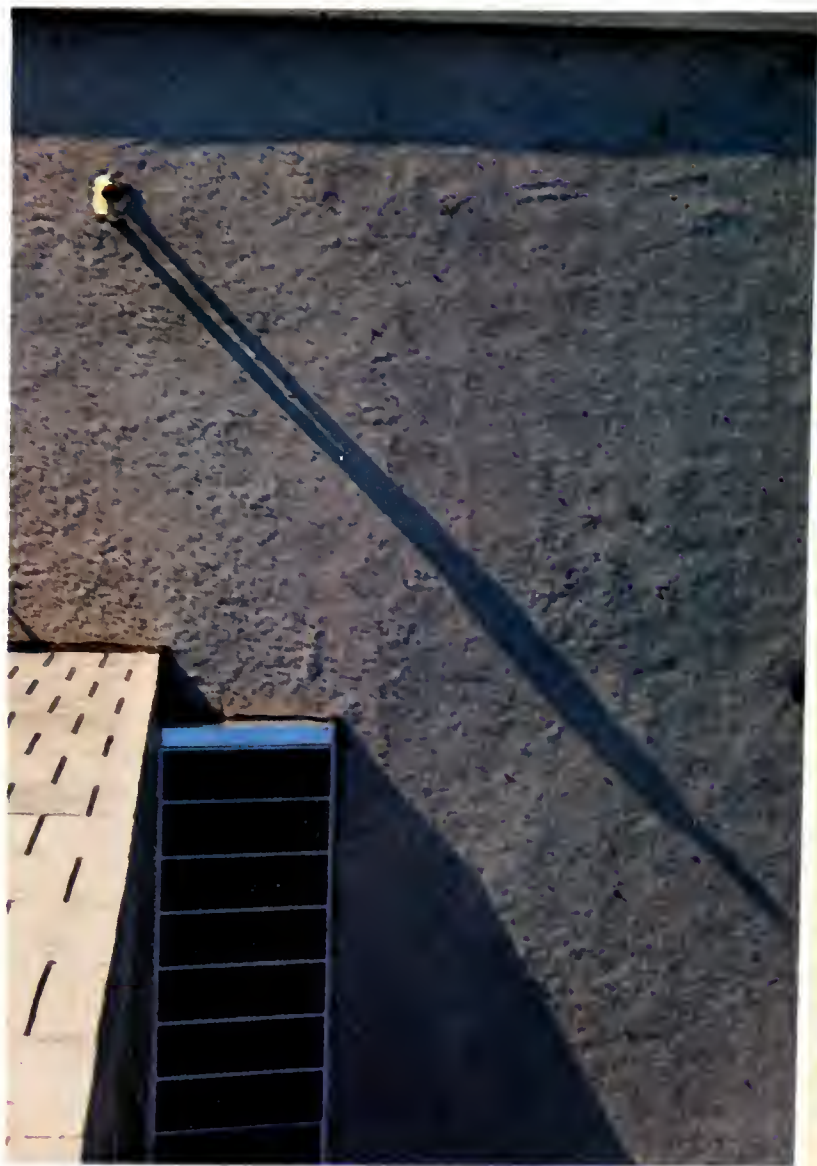

But in the midst of anxiety and unrest, native constants serenely invited us to reflect, reevaluate, and reason WHY.

We became aware that our world is mirrored in ourselves.

*They call it
Orientation Week. I felt uneasy, misplaced. Roaming the campus, I discovered student guides singing on the University Plaza. I added my voice and strings to the group; the next thing I knew,
I was auditioning for the Freshman Talent
Show. I watched part of the Powder Puff Game. But I never really liked football.*

*Crowds
that do nothing
depress
me.*

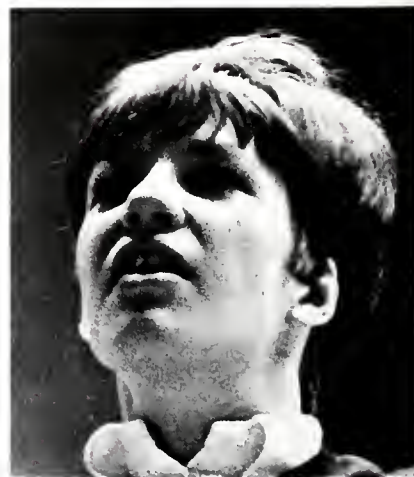

I'm like a phantom ship—

—aimless, yet with direction.

"If I had wings . . .

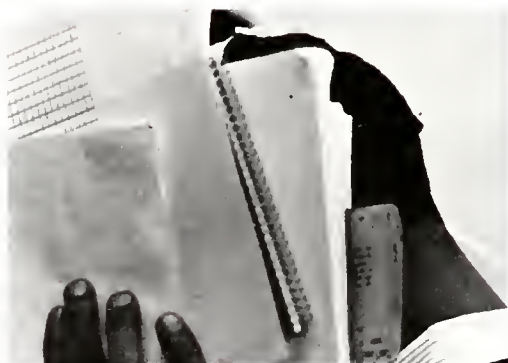

... no one would ask me should I fly."

The American Idea

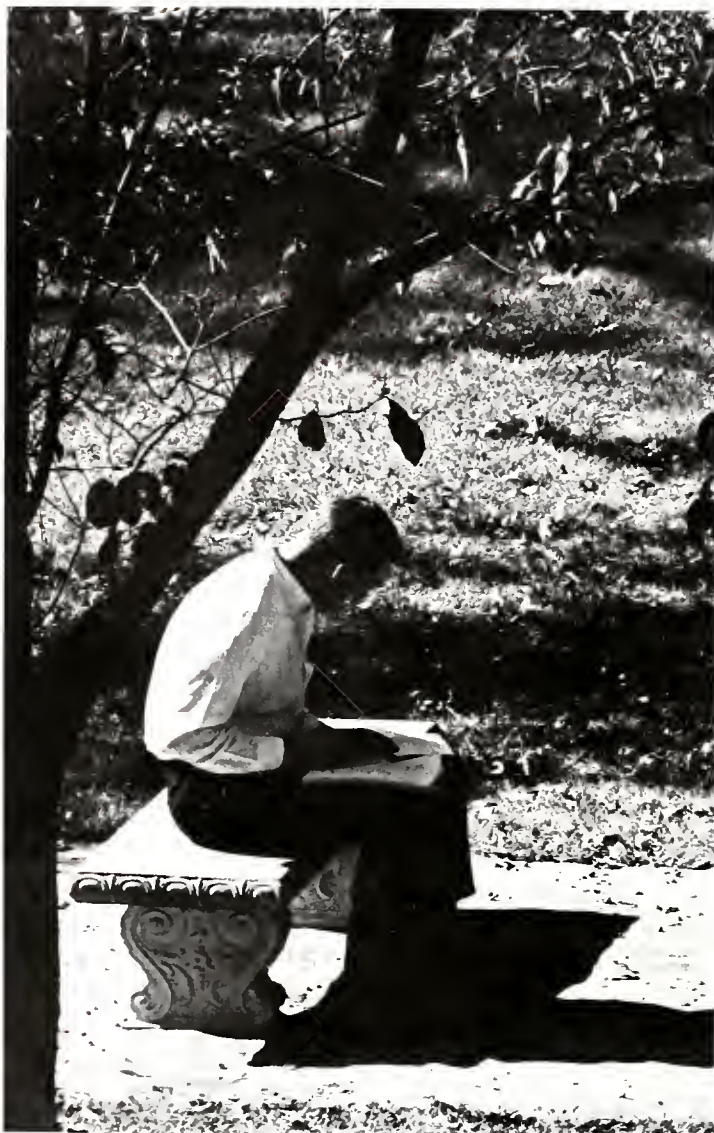

f only . . .

Homecoming: It was a beautiful day, brimming with fall crispness. The sun was hot and the parade was late, as usual. I and my 14,999 fellow fans were relieved that we tied. My nose peeled.

Autumn leaves crunch under foot. A brisk wind tosses her hair. The world is alive.

Victory

Ours is a campus where many are reluctant to relinquish the injustice of certain ritualistic traditions, are unable to share a "mind-stretching" hour with an aware professor, or, are concerned with their student publications only when they need a ride home.

South First Street—the sign reads "Speck's." It's dark, crowded, not too clean; it smells of spilled beer, stale cologne, cigarette smoke. Some call it an escape. I think it's reality.

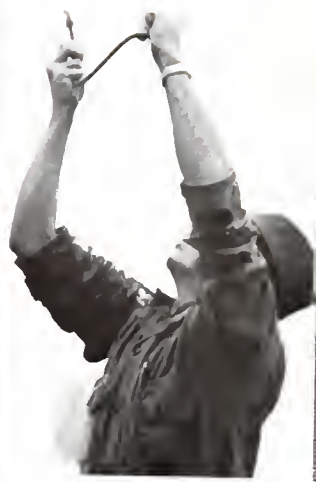

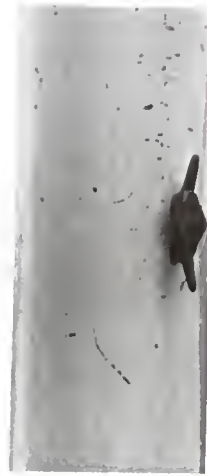

Reason both frees and imprisons man.

*I am Free—Free to affirm what I believe, refute what I can not accept.
I seek answers; I ask "Why?"*

*Suitcasing? If I had wanted to be at home,
I'd never have come away to college.*

It's so different here during the weekend. I can be alone or together, elated or melancholy, fulfilled or deprived. And only I know the difference

*We touch.
Our eyes communicate.
Words are meaningless now.*

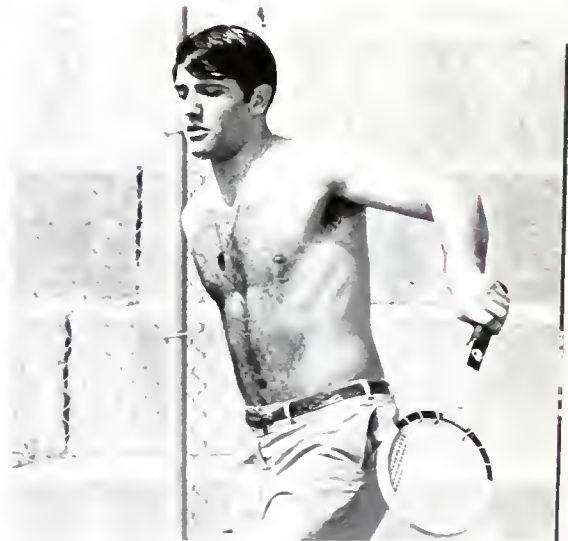

Happiness is as a butterfly, which, when pursued, is always beyond our grasp, but which, if you will sit down quietly, may alight upon you

My activities reflect my life. Each day is an individual experience

It's my favorite time of day.

is the prophet of our existence.*

*He focuses lines, color,
texture into a personally gratifying expression of universal thought.*

He disciplines random movement, thereby producing the modern dance form to which Drum and Sandal is dedicated.

*He challenges an audience to reassess its scrupulosity as he speaks the eloquent prose of Robert Bolt's
"A Man For All Seasons."*

He instructs the young by igniting a tribal fire of wonder in the legend of "Johnny Moonbeam and the Silver Arrow."

*He releases man from the mundane through the hilariously poignant fantasy world of
"Once Upon A Mattress."*

He orders chaotic sound into the melodic harmonies of the New York Pro-Musica; he respects the intellect of a Whitney Young, the humanitarianism of a Margaret Meade. He is the true prophet of our existence.

A rollicking Mississippi riverboat banjo beat, a simple lyric, an honest sound—The Mitchell Trio.

A pure artistic expression, whether it be the classical dance of the Louisville Civic Ballet or the unpretentious vocal qualities of Josh White, is second only to a strawberry soda.

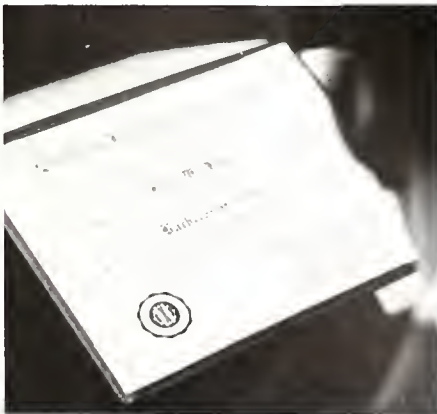

It was warm and clear; I was looking forward to the night, looking forward to seeing Lou Rawls and The Fifth Dimension.

But . . . my MILESTONE section was due. I heard they were groovy.

*Graduation? Undoubtedly, I'm pleasing my family today; militarily, I'm draftable; socially, I'm one pace ahead of all my old "friends"
who dropped out; individually, I'm unprotected
When I'm alone at night, looking into the electric darkness of my room, I sometimes wonder, "Was it really worth it?"*

Governor, Regents Plan Eastern Growth

Eastern was ably represented at the inauguration of Judge Louie B. Nunn as the first Republican governor of Kentucky in twenty years. The Marching Maroons, Counterguerrilla Raiders, Pershing Rifles, and ROTC sponsors were participants in the December 12 event.

The Board of Regents, acting on recommendations of the University President, implemented several new programs this year. A new combination football stadium and physical education plant, an addition to the administration building, and two tower dormitories are now under construction.

The Governor, Board of Regents, and President of the University combine their skills to make Eastern a valuable asset to the Commonwealth.

President Sets Pace At Eastern

Always active in his position as an educational leader, President Robert R. Martin was this year elected to the Board of Directors of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities.

Setting the pace with his own professional growth, Dr. Martin has continued to lead Eastern to greater academic excellence and physical expansion. New buildings include the Mary K. Burrier Home Economics Building, the Moore Science Building, and the first phase of the women's dormitory complex. The expansion of the masters degree program, establishment of the International Educational Program, and expansion of the Department of Research all reflect the growth in the scholastic realm.

The office of the President of Eastern Kentucky University requires that its holder be a man of vision and enterprise. A mere glance at Eastern testifies that Dr. Robert R. Martin is just such a man.

First Families Are Active in Campus Life

President and Mrs. Martin work as a team in their capacity as social pacesetters for Eastern. Anyone who has seen them at any University function realizes these are two of the most energetic people on campus. Interested in everything concerning Eastern, they never seem to lose their enthusiasm. Being relatively young themselves, they are able to share the school spirit of the student and at times may even rival the high-spirited freshmen.

Interested in activities at Eastern year-round, President-emeritus and Mrs. William F. O'Donnell must certainly enjoy Homecoming weekend the most. Especially at this time they are able to see many of their former students and relive many happy memories of their life at Eastern. But Dr. and Mrs. O'Donnell are not exclusively interested in Eastern graduates. Today's students, too, enjoy their warmth and friendliness.

JOHN L. VICKERS
Executive Assistant

Executive Assistant, Dean Are President's Right Hand

Representing the President both on and off campus and assisting with the steady flow of visitors to the campus are the two major concerns of Mr. John L. Vickers, Executive Assistant to the President. The warmth and friendliness of Mr. Vickers represents the spirit of Eastern, as he travels around the state telling the Eastern Story.

The position of Executive Dean requires a sound understanding of the financial system of the University. The efficient way in which he compiles the budget and supervises the overall finances of the University shows that Mr. J. C. Powell is a man who is well qualified to fill the position.

Both Mr. Vickers and Dean Powell are closely allied with the Office of the President. Working as a unit on many projects, these three men formulate and execute those plans which bring about continual progress at Eastern.

Academic Affairs Continues Expansion; Add Two Divisions

This year the Office of Academic Affairs saw the merger of the Council on Instruction and the Curriculum Committee into the Council on Academic Affairs. Other new developments within the office are the Allied Health Program and the International Education Program, concerned respectively with the coordination of University health programs and stimulation of interest in international affairs.

Dr. Thomas F. Stovall, Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean of the Faculties, works harmoniously with the academic officers to create the overall academic policy of the University. Collaborating with the dean of the five colleges, continuing education, and the Graduate School to effect instructional programs, Dean Stovall also coordinates their efforts with those of the Divisions of Libraries, Research, and Instructional Services.

Office of Student Affairs Considers Change In Policy

In the sometimes bewildering world of University life, guidance is always welcome. With the growth of Eastern, however, the limits of the University's supervisory role, the concept of in loco parentis has been questioned. Two advisory committees, one headed by Dr. Henry G. Martin, Vice President for Student Affairs, were organized to study this situation at the beginning of the school term.

The question now facing this office is just how much it should be involved in the affairs of the student. Should the student be held to standards of conduct and morality dictated to him from a source of which his age group is at best skeptical and at worst in complete opposition? Do the policies instigated for a small college in the 1940's and '50's apply to a large university of the 1960's? And shouldn't the student be allowed to help those of an older generation understand his needs and reconcile those outdated policies with the world as it is today? Helping the student by seeking to improve the system is the task of all those concerned with the Office of Student Affairs.

Business Affairs Undergoes Extensive Structural Change

Ever expanding because of the many phases of the University with which it is concerned, the Office of Business Affairs this year announced the reorganization of three departments. The growth of the data processing center has demanded that it be redesignated the Division of Data Process.

The Division of Safety and Security was created to encompass the already established Security Office and to meet the need for increased safety and security for the University.

Initiated because of the necessity for more administrative supervision of campus services, the Division of Institutional Services is now responsible for the telephone, mail, central file, and central duplicating services.

Mr. Neal Donaldson, Dean of Business Affairs, also announced the institution of the position of Bursar. Working closely with the Comptroller, the Bursar is concerned with all incoming revenue.

Public Affairs-- Voice of the University

Whatever the world knows or thinks of Eastern can be largely attributed to the Office of Public Affairs. Characterized by the bustling activity of pecking typewriters and clanging telephones, this office presents the image of the University through news releases, magazines, and brochures. Setting a brisk pace is Dean Donald R. Feltner, who also serves as advisor to the Milestone, the student-published yearbook of the University.

The office contains five divisions, News and Publications, University-School Relations, Placement, Development, and Alumni Affairs. These branches are the media through which the general public, high school students and administrators, prospective employers, and alumni are kept abreast of the ever-changing Eastern Story.

Central University College

Central University College Initiates Humanities Program

Last fall one hundred freshmen were chosen to enter an experimental program in the area of general humanities. Conducted within the Central University College, the two-year program proposes to help the student understand the peculiarly human experience and to grasp the fundamental principles underlying the arts. The four courses composing the curriculum are an integration of literature, art, music, and philosophy.

Formed primarily to provide freshmen and sophomores with basic requirement courses, Central University College, through the other four undergraduate colleges, offers foundation courses for future majors and minors. Departments which operate within the college are Military Science, Social Science, and the Academic Advising Office.

Applied Arts and Technology Provides Abundant Opportunity

Running the gamut from pure art to the highly complex technology of electronics, the College of Applied Arts and Technology presents an opportunity for the development of many interests. A delicate touch backed by controlled strength represents the effort that must be made to master the techniques of these fields of study.

Serving Eastern students and residents of an eighteen-county area in Kentucky, the Kentucky School of Crafts molds artistic skills and enhances the handicrafts that have been practiced over the years in Kentucky. School children are taught simple skills which may later become a more mature interest in art. Skilled craftsmen are encouraged to expand their abilities, enriching both our culture and their own lives.

Including technology, science, administration, and art, the Agriculture Department delves into all phases of agriculture from farm management to landscaping. Although designed primarily for agriculture majors, this department also offers courses helpful to the amateur farmer who raises a small garden or the homeowner who wants to learn how to landscape his lawn.

Industrial Education and Technology—

Providing highly specialized training and a broad general education, the Department of Law Enforcement offers special emphasis in general law enforcement, juvenile corrections, and industrial security. Now planning to expand its program to in-service training for employees at two Kentucky prisons, the School of Law Enforcement is able to provide such services under a grant from the U.S. Office of Law Enforcement Education. Eastern was the first university in the nation to establish a School of Law Enforcement under the Law Enforcement Act of 1965 and is the only university to have received three grants under this act.

Spanning the field of industrial pursuits, the Departments of Industrial Education and Industrial Technology prepare students for both teaching and industrial positions. The Department of Industrial Education offers an associate, a baccalaureate, and emphasis for a Master of Arts degree programs. Considered one of the better programs of industrial education in the nation, the faculty and equipment are well above average.

Preparing students for technical occupations, the Department of Industrial Technology offers a major with emphasis in either drafting, electricity-electronics, metals, or graphic arts.

Nursing Graduates First Class; Home Economics Adds Dietetics

The art of quelling fears and bringing comfort; the technology of operating modern lifesaving medical equipment—the combination produces a vision of whiteness equipped with nerves of steel and warm understanding of the most enduring human emotions. The aim of the Department of Nursing is to create this vision from those young women who enter its domain. Through a combined program of classroom study and actual hospital experience, a well-rounded education is achieved.

Fostering the development of a four-year program in dietetics, the Home Economics Department continues to expand into many specialized areas. The Dietetics Department will provide a curriculum similar to that of regular home economics, but with a greater emphasis on science. Graduates of the Home Economics Department may be qualified to teach secondary vocational home economics or to secure positions in research or other fields now open to the home economics major with a liberal background.

College of Arts and Sciences

Arts and Sciences Enlarges Program

Encompassing a wide range of study, the College of Arts and Sciences offers courses toward majors in many fields and liberal arts background for many others. Masters of Arts or Science are now offered in English, history, biology, and, next year, in chemistry. Bachelors degrees are offered in 19 fields and minors may be taken in five others. Striving to accommodate as many interests as possible, the College of Arts and Sciences each year adds new courses and approaches, as well as upgrading faculty, materials, and quality of instruction.

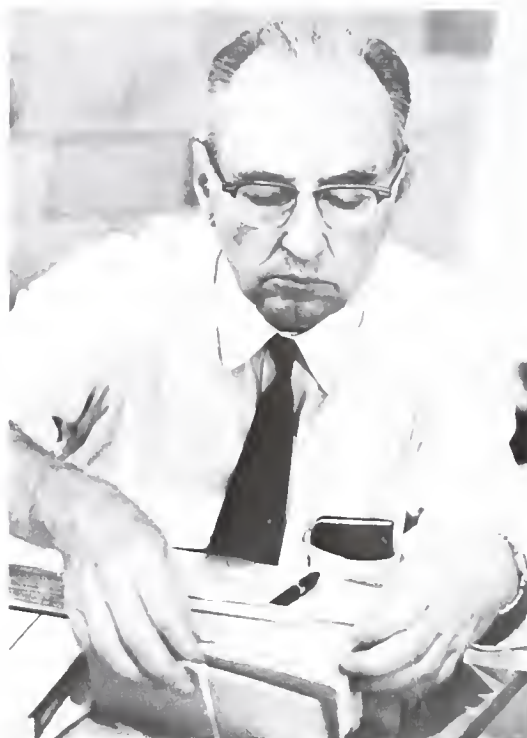

Increasing the number of courses offered, the Department of Speech has begun to train students for speech therapy and radio and television careers. With the advent of Eastern's own FM radio station, more practical experience can be gained by the student with such interests.

Languages Instruct In Grammar and Literature

Encouraging curiosity in literature from classical to modern, the English Department also presents courses dealing with grammar, semantics, and the origin and development of the English language. Poetry has always been the emotional and intellectual avenue of the aesthetic soul and with each generation it has changed both in form and content. All phases may be quarried in the courses in the English Department.

Engendering a knowledge of languages, societies, and cultures other than our own, the Foreign Language Department provides courses in four major modern languages and in Greek and Latin. This department encourages the foreign film program, along with its interest in international education.

itself toward training students for this field. In order to promote the formation of a well-rounded investigator, methods of recognizing, analyzing, and resolving social problems are basic components of the course of study.

Using graduate students as teaching assistants, the History Department is now able to make greater use of the specific abilities of its highly qualified faculty. Because of the large number of courses now available, students may specialize in an area and question various interpretations of history.

Attempting to train students for their role in the political process, the Department of Political Science affords study in both the domestic and international realm. In cooperation with Kentucky state government and Kentucky State College, the Frankfort Program was initiated this year. In this program a student spends part of his time in classwork and the remainder participating in the actual functions of state government at the State capital.

To understand the ancients and question great truths, the Philosophy Department invites students to explore the world of philosophy and perhaps add to it. To accept and reject on the basis of knowledge gained through insight and to impart an attitude of scholarly reflection, students learn to digest the whole of a philosophy, know its parts, acknowledge its flaws, and evaluate its conclusions.

Arts Afford Students New World of Appreciation

Performing arts are given a wide field of expression through the Department of Drama. Students become actors, directors, costumers, make-up artists, and stage and lighting technicians in their search for creative expression.

Working with paint, clay, metal or any number of materials, the art student creates the visible from the emotional. The Art Department provides the atmosphere and guidance for helping students bring forth their best talents.

Appreciating a concert, playing an instrument, or conducting an orchestra, music pervades the lives of many. Through the Department of Music, talented musicians expand their abilities, while other students become familiar with great works of music in appreciation class. Contributing to cultural events on campus, the Music Department each year presents many concerts and recitals. The annual presentation of Handel's Messiah is one of the high points of the year.

Biology Offers Masters; Chemistry Moves to Moore

Biological studies have become more centered on individual research and investigation since the institution of the Master of Science in biology. Providing information in the controversial Red River Dam project, members of the Biology Department conducted studies of the species of life there and the possibility of adapting them to a new habitat when the project is completed.

Preparing chemists for industry and education, the Chemistry Department emphasizes the ability to use modern laboratory equipment which is now available in the new Moore Science Building. General chemistry courses required for other majors are presented to give the student an overview of the theory and practice of chemistry. Special classes of chemistry have been established in cooperation with the Department of Nursing to meet their specific needs.

The Physics Department, in keeping with new scientific developments, is increasing its emphasis on nuclear and radioactive laboratory experience. Physics majors are encouraged to enlarge their grasp of other fields to which physics may be applied and the inevitable mathematics which is an integral part of physics.

Introducing modern mathematics to the general public is the responsibility of the mathematics teacher. Toward this end, the Department of Mathematics has developed such courses for both the elementary and high school teacher and has oriented its curriculum to accept this approach as a norm. Courses dealing with theory and older approaches are ever-present and valuable.

The Departments of Geography and Geology are concerned with the environment, topography, and subterranean of the earth. Climatology and cartography laboratories give geography the facilities for predicting and studying the weather and for producing high quality maps. Earth samples may be more effectively studied in the now larger geology laboratories.

Business Expands Associate Degrees

Having accepted the challenge of the business world, the College of Business is now amplifying an already extensive program. Degrees range from a one year secretarial certificate to a Master of Business Administration. The Associate of Arts degree in data processing, an innovation of one year's duration, is designed to keep pace with the emphasis in this portion of the business field. Other developments in business are equally integrated into the department because there is a need for the talents of persons trained in these areas.

Developing both an industrial and a professional program, the Accounting Department prepares students for entrance into an accounting firm in anticipation of becoming a Certified Public Accountant for industrial or governmental careers without the CPA certification. Basic accounting courses, required for all students in the College of Business, offer an opportunity for gaining knowledge useful in all phases of business. In cooperation with the Graduate School, the Accounting Department offers a concentration in accounting for the Master of Business Administration.

Economics Open Career Paths

Combining theory and practice, the Department of Economics seeks to give the student the theoretical basis of economics by which a practical career as an economist may be procured. Presenting opportunities for basic study for non-majors and graduate work for majors, a wide range of course work has been developed in the Economics Department.

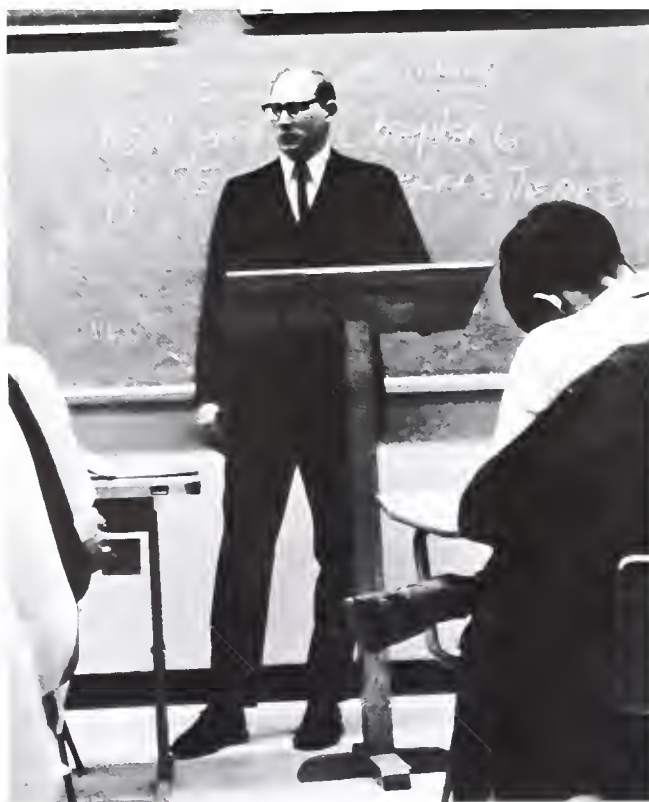

The Department of Business Administration presents three areas in which a bachelor's degree may be earned. General business gives the student an overview, allowing him to become familiar with all phases of the world of administration. Concerned primarily with investment, taxation, and financial institutions, the finance major must also interest himself in the other phases of business in order to apply his specified abilities. The management major has two options from which to choose, personnel management and industrial relations or production management.

Four Degrees Offered by Business Education , Administration

Training secondary education teachers and secretaries is the purpose of the Department of Business Education and Office Administration. Open to the student wishing to pursue a teaching career are three courses of study. An area in business is for students who will teach only business subjects; a major in business entitles the student to teach business and other courses; a certificate for teaching in a federally reimbursed vocational school is awarded to those students in the business area or major who so indicate during their sophomore year.

The secretarial programs are for one, two, or four years. The one year program leads to a certificate of Secretarial Science, the two year Executive Secretarial Program yields an associate degree, and the four year program the bachelors degree.

College of Education Adds New Department

Accreting the range of its influence, the College of Education this year acquired the Department of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation. Dedicated primarily to the propagation of teacher education, the College of Education has inevitably broadened its sphere of authority as it has developed with the growth of the University.

Preparing the student for a role that has been opposite to the one which he has fulfilled for most of his life, the Department of Education seeks to provide guidelines for classroom procedures and professional conduct. Extending its influence into all departments through preparatory education courses, the department is responsible for the majority of courses in the elementary education curriculum. The Department of Education works closely with Model Laboratory School in all phases of teacher education from classroom observation to student teaching.

Offering a minor for elementary education as well as a full major, the Department of Library Science purposes to prepare school librarians and give a basis for graduate study. The proper use of a library and an understanding of the library systems and organizations is of value to all those in the teaching field. Through the courses offered in this department, students are able to make better use of a library.

Developing the body to meet the requirements of the mind is the aim of the Department of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation. Through health courses the workings and care of the body are relayed to perhaps the healthiest age group of our population. In physical education activity courses, students become skilled in group and individual sports, and develop better body control and coordination. Because of the greater amount of leisure time now available to man, the Department of Recreation trains students to teach more effective use of this time.

Oriented more toward educational psychology, the Psychology Department complements the Education Department with such courses as learning, child psychology, and intelligence testing. Other courses are of value to the individual in understanding psychological disorders.

Graduate School

Graduate School Paces University Development

Masters degree programs appear to be the coming thing at Eastern. Enlarging this year to offer a Master of Science in Biology, a Master of Arts in Music, and a Master of Business Administration, the Graduate School is preparing to offer next year a Master of Science in Chemistry and a Master of Arts in Geography. In addition to the Masters degree program the Graduate School also offers Rank I certification for elementary and secondary teachers.

The presence of a graduate school on campus has greatly enhanced the idea of further education and has encouraged many students to pursue their own interests into higher scholarly fields. Contributing to other campus developments, graduate students become teaching assistants to lighten the classwork load of professors. Through their need for an extensive library, they have promoted expansion of facilities and materials of the John Grant Crabbe Library.

1968 Hall of Fame

Honors bestowed upon the recipient of the Milestone Hall of Fame award are the highest that a graduating senior can have conferred on him. The achievement of the honor reflects superior scholarship, leadership, creative participation in campus activities, and a personification of the ideals and goals that the University holds in high esteem. Nominations for Hall of Fame are made by the senior honoraries and the Student Council with final selection being made by a secret committee chosen by the President.

The 1968 Milestone presents Mr. Robert E. Tarvin as the newest member of the distinguished Hall of Fame. Bob has exhibited superior achievement in all endeavors he has attempted. Coming to Eastern on a football scholarship, he was an outstanding player, being named all-OVC tackle in 1966. Sidelined in his senior year because of ill health, he served as an undergraduate assistant coach, contributing valuable aid to the coaching staff.

In academics Bob achieved distinction with a 3.82 overall grade average, while serving as President of "E" Club, a member of Kappa Iota Epsilon, Omicron Alpha Kappa, and Who's Who. Bob also served as Eastern's representative to the Experiment in International Living, spending last summer in Uruguay. As well as receiving the Hall of Fame award, Bob was also selected for the Milestone's Honor Roll as having the highest point average in, and the greatest contribution to, the College of Arts and Sciences.

Bob's future plans include attending graduate school, specializing in Latin American history.

ROBERT E. TARVIN
1968 Hall of Fame

A member of several organizations, Bob is a campus leader. Despite his heavy academic schedule, Bob ably served as an undergraduate assistant football coach for the champion 1967 Eastern Colonels.

1968 Honor Roll

Recipients of the Milestone's Honor Roll award are the best in their respective colleges. Not only do they represent the highest grade averages in their fields, but they also actively display interest in and contribution to campus activities, as well as exhibiting leadership in their college.

The students cited for the Honor Roll are chosen by the respective college deans on the basis of high academic standing, leadership, cooperation and contribution to their field of study while at Eastern.

1968 Milestone Senior Citations

Awards for Milestone Senior Citations have increased in importance since their inception four years ago and have come to occupy an increasing status among the emulative goals that graduating seniors or terminating juniors strive to attain.

Students cited for Senior Citations have demonstrated exceptional ability, achievement, and leadership in their respective academic or extracurricular fields. Nominated by department chairmen, organization advisors, and athletic coaches, final selections were made by a committee of student and administrative composition.

Awards were made in the areas of athletics, drama, music, religion, speech and debate, student government, student publications, and, for the first time, Greeks.

Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities

Students who are recognized as contributing significantly to their college or university during their educational career are honored by receiving membership in the national publication Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Thirty-seven Eastern seniors were awarded membership in the coveted national organization this year. Induction into Who's Who is based upon scholarship, leadership, extracurricular participation, citizenship, and future potential. The nominees are selected by a faculty committee and final determination made by the national organization. Those who are finally chosen receive a certificate recognizing their achievement and their names placed in the annual publication of Who's Who.

Omicron Alpha Kappa

Omicron Alpha Kappa is an honorary society for junior and senior men who have demonstrated character, scholarship, intelligence, and leadership. Its members must have acquired and maintained an academic standing of 3.4.

The major project for the year was the organization of an academic "college bowl" team for Eastern. The society was also active in such campus events as orientation of new freshmen, the honors program in the spring, homecoming preparations, and making nominations for the Hall of Fame.

Included in its proposed endeavors is making an effort to become associated with the national senior men's honorary, Omicron Delta Kappa.

At times like these OAK's president, Gordon Jennings, considers the hours spent mastering parliamentary procedure not to have been in vain.

Collegiate Pentacle

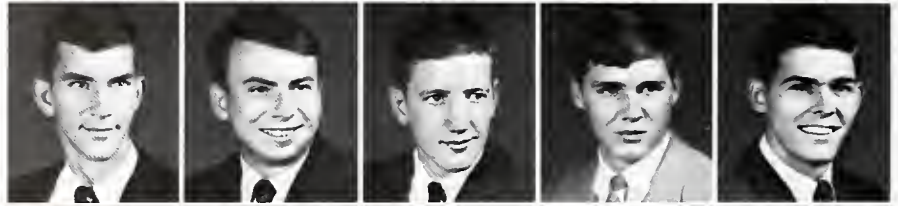

Highlighting the year's activities for Collegiate Pentacle, senior women's honorary, was the traditional tapping ceremony of prospective members, and later on, the initiation banquet at Boone Tavern. Other activities included giving a coke party for transfer students during Orientation, decorating the SUB for Homecoming, delivering Thanksgiving baskets to needy families, giving a tea for Dean Ingels and her staff, planning a party for Brockton children, and sponsoring a hen party for those girls seeking membership into the organization.

Collegiate Pentacle is organized in order to recognize those senior women who have obtained academic achievement and have displayed high standards of leadership and character. Membership is afforded to those women who have maintained an overall 3.0 standing for a minimum of 90 semester hours, and who have participated in extracurricular activities. At the present time Collegiate Pentacle is in the process of becoming affiliated with Mortar Board, a national honorary.

Kappa Iota Epsilon

Composed of sophomore men who have attained a 3.0 or better scholastic standing, Kappa Iota Epsilon encourages academic achievement and renders service to the Eastern community. Nominated on the basis of citizenship, scholarship, and leadership as freshmen, members are selected by outgoing KIE's and a faculty committee.

Service is the key to the organization's activities. Members served as guides during Orientation Week, formed an advisory council for assisting freshmen with academic problems, and helped with decorations for the Homecoming dance. A traditional end to the year was the spring banquet.

One of the highlights of Orientation Week was the freshman talent show, co-sponsored by Kappa Iota Epsilon.

Cwens assist in serving at a tea given for members of their organization and Collegiate Pentacle at the home of President and Mrs. Martin.

Cwens

Mu Chapter of the National Society of Cwens is the honorary organization for sophomore women at Eastern. Its purpose is to foster leadership, scholarship, and fellowship among sophomore women and to help lay the foundation for leaders among freshman women.

During the year, Cwens filled its calendar with a wide variety of activities. They served as Orientation guides, sponsored the freshman talent show, published guidebooks for freshmen, and gave a Christmas banquet for freshman women. Cwens honored their pledge of service to Eastern by working as Homecoming guides, assisting with Honors Day, and sponsoring fall and spring informal dances.

Cwens felt that the image they project of Eastern will help it to grow and so they engaged in several community service projects. Working at the Telford Community Center, visiting nursing homes, Christmas caroling, and sending baked goods to soldiers in Viet Nam kept these girls busy throughout the year.

Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega members discuss technical organization, the basis for a successful dramatic production.

Alpha Psi Omega, a chapter of a national dramatics honorary fraternity, was established to recognize students who have made outstanding contributions to the theatre, either through performance, costuming, or technical activity.

Alpha Psi Omega members, in conjunction with Eastern Little Theatre, were responsible for the many fine dramatic productions enjoyed by Eastern students this year.

Students who participate in dramatics are awarded points on the basis of the type of role, the length of the play, or the hours of technical work. Membership in Alpha Psi Omega is conferred for life.

Kappa Delta Pi initiates become full-fledged members when they receive their pins.

Kappa Delta Pi

Striving to encourage high professional, intellectual, and personal standards, Kappa Delta seeks out and recognizes outstanding contributions to education.

Organized in 1935 under the Delta Alpha Chapter charter, Kappa Delta Pi accepts only those students who have a junior standing with a cumulative grade overage of 3.1, who display worthy educational ideals, and who are working toward twelve hours in professional education.

Kappa Delta Pi contributed necessary teaching aids to a one-room school in Clay County, Kentucky, and gave cash awards to a sophomore man and woman who demonstrated exceptional scholarship and leadership in the field of education. In addition, the organization promoted programs of vital interest to student teachers.

Pi Omega Pi

Organized as the first honorary on Eastern's campus, Pi Omega Pi continues to honor outstanding students who are interested in teaching in the business field.

Active members must be enrolled in a business education curriculum; have completed at least three semesters of college, including twelve hours in business; and have attained a 3.0 academic average in business and education courses.

Activities of the organization are designed to enhance the desirability of the teaching of business.

Mr. Charles Bright talks to Pi Omega Pi members on the importance of vocational education in business.

Scabbard and Blade

1966 Homecoming Queen, Judy Drake, walks under the saber arch formed by Scabbard and Blade as she is introduced at this year's pre-game ceremony.

K Company, 15th Regiment of Scabbard and Blade was founded at Eastern in 1964. It became a part of the long-established national Scabbard and Blade tradition which is dedicated to fostering a sense of loyalty, honor, duty, and brotherhood among the members and graduates of the advanced cadets of the ROTC program.

Membership in the honorary is limited to those who have maintained a 3.0 academic average and who have been selected and voted on by the active members.

Scabbard and Blade conducted pledge initiations, sponsored trips to Army posts, and contributed to the impressive dignity of the Military Ball and Homecoming by forming a saber arch.

Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha

Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha is a nationally chartered honorary for outstanding students in debate, extemporaneous speaking, forensics, oratory, and responsible public speaking.

DSR-TKA had as its program recruiting of notable speakers to Eastern's campus, assisting in sponsoring the annual British-Eastern public debate, and planning the campus-wide Weaver and Keene oratorical contests for men and women. In addition, DSR-TKA members served as discussion and debate judges for the annual regional high school speech festival.

Pi Tau Chi

Pi Tau Chi, a national religious honorary society, recognizes outstanding students who have distinguished themselves by leading Christian lives and by exhibiting Christian leadership.

Membership is granted only to those who have at least sophomore status and who have been nominated by the members of the campus religious organizations.

Plans were made this year to establish an active alumni file. In addition, the group organized a "Company of Compassion" as a part of the Laubach Literacy Foundation's Army striving to increase adult literacy at home and abroad.

Eastern's Zeta Chapter of Pi Tau Chi actively encourages support of and interest in religious organizations as a means to a fuller and happier Christian life both as a college student and in the years after graduation.

Polity Society

Achieving its objective of promoting scholarship among political scientists, the Polity Society devoted its regular meetings to the discussion of pertinent political problems.

Members of the group, who must have at least twelve hours in political science and a 3.0 average, seek to objectively study existing political and governmental institutions and find means for improvement in these areas.

Activities included a tea for new members at which they were introduced to old members and the faculty of the Political Science Department. A banquet featuring a guest speaker ended the year.

Student Government Assumes True Role

Finding itself in the midst of a student body beginning to clamor for its rights from a seemingly static administration, Eastern's Student Government Association set as its goal for 1967-68 the provision of a forum through which student opinion could be expressed.

To this end, the Student Council, led by President Steve Wilborn, went on record as opposing the policy of mandatory ROTC for all male freshmen and sophomores. Further committees under the auspices of the council investigated several of the unpopular administrative policies, such as women's hours and classroom attendance, as well as determining the validity of reports of alleged discrimination.

During the past year, Eastern's Student Government finally asserted itself as the authentic voice of Eastern students.

The Arts

College is more than knowledge gained from a textbook or learned from a lecture. It is a period of growing appreciation of the finer things in life—a broadening of one's world, obtained by contributing time and talents to different facets of the arts.

Arts Encourage Creative Expression

Grace and beauty of movement are found not only at a ballet, whether it be on stage or in the water, but also on a trampoline. College life can be forgotten by seeking the realm of imagination the Little Theatre set forth.

The music produced by and for Eastern students may bring a tear to the eye or thrill to the heart, be it the traditional Handel's Messiah or the patriotic Star Spangled Banner.

Amahl offered all he had for what he loved.

RIGHT: Drum and Sandal displays the Yuletide spirit through the movement of a dance. BELOW: Lights, death, darkness . . . a sense of gaining a different personality with each new scene and becoming yourself again with each closed curtain.

Departmentals

Learning is the vital concern of any institution of higher education. And so it is at Eastern, but not always does it come from the classroom and the library.

The extracurricular departmental organizations serve as stimuli for practical, common sense implementation of the tools of theory which are taught in the textbooks. Socially, they offer an avenue for acquaintances, friendships, and cooperation in fulfilling a common goal.

These organizations' concerns are evident in nearly all social functions such as dances, discussions, Homecoming festivities, public debates, intramural activities, or entertainment and services at athletic events.

In addition, these clubs meet regularly to discuss issues and problems pertinent to their own area of study and interest. The ideas traded and originated on these occasions are most important in the learning process.

Thus, it becomes more than a teacher, textbook, test, student relationship. Students contribute and receive from their organization. It is an enjoyable yet beneficial diversion from the routine classwork and study assignments that can become boring, although the worth of such duties are not forgotten.

Greeks on Eastern's campus have initiated a new way of life. No longer is there the prevalent restricted attitude of individual existence formerly common to Eastern. Greeks have added that all important unity. It kindles a bond that is everlasting and engenders a spirit of working toward common goals.

More than parties and pins, Greeks serve as the cohesive link which correlates a meaningful and memorable college career for its men and women. Through the ties of brotherhood and sisterhood, Greeks represent healthy social, moral, religious, and intellectual growth.

ABOVE: If enthusiasm added points to the scoreboard, the Colonels would always be on top. TOP RIGHT: Anything goes, but she may have trouble in the locker room.

Spirit Sparked by Socials

Greek enthusiasm sparked school spirit to a fever pitch this year. Running the ball to Morehead and forming an arch for the football players were samples of the activities the Greeks organized. The Greeks also transformed Homecoming into an extravaganza of kaleidoscopic colors, sights, and sounds.

TOP: Man, look at those onkles! LEFT: Fraternities give the Colonels just what they need—plenty of support. ABOVE: As the University spirit grows, so grow its mascots.

RIGHT: The Greeks form a pathway hoping it will become the road to victory. BELOW: It's a dog's life! People just do not realize an official mascot should be able to see the game. BOTTOM: An air of intense expectation pervades the atmosphere as the fans watch the Colonels' next play.

A Floor in Lieu of a House

Jocular associations, remembered experiences and comaradie will always be the elements that endear dorm life to each and every student. This was especially true of the Greeks because this year the fraternities and sororities had individual floors—their floors, their homes.

TOP: Dorm life must integrate a successful combination of study and relaxation. LEFT: BOX actives are known for the artistic interior decoration of their dorm rooms. ABOVE: Music—people type by it, exercise by it, and some even study by it.

BELOW: If an Alpha Chi Lambda pledge gets through this, he deserves to become an active. LEFT: Attending church becomes an integral part of fraternity life.

Rush a Time of Welcome

Rush was a time of estatic joy, steaming frustration, and sheer exhaustion. New faces were encountered and remembered. Choices were made, dreams fulfilled and shattered. This gamut of emotions made up the scintillating quality of rush.

ABOVE: A root'n, toot'n, shoot'n time develops when Alpha Pi Kappa goes West. LEFT: Customs, traditions, and the every day life of an AXI are revealed to prospective pledges on Greek day.

Soon the parties will be over: then there is a night of waiting, waiting.

Pledges—A Group Apart

Pledges constituted a group apart. For the pledges, stamina, patience, and fortitude were essentials. Possessing these qualities were necessary for survival. Upon culmination of this period, the pledges became another group apart—Greeks.

LEFT: So an active decides to harass you. You enjoy it or else.

Socials Serve Others Than Themselves

Although the party image is the one which is usually associated with Greeks, the core of their activities is service centered. Throughout the year, Eastern's fraternities and sororities gave willingly of their time, talent, and money to fund-raising drives, to the underprivileged of the Richmond community, and to their fellow students, thereby enriching their world and themselves.

Military

While many college students are reaching the public mind through sit-ins, draft card burnings, and anti-war demonstrations, one element of university life, deserving of commendation, is often pushed into the background. This segment of the college population, the members of military organizations, realize that they must make themselves capable of leading men to war's end rather than complaining about war's existence. Dedicated to their belief, they, through a variety of activities, prepare themselves to cope with a world of reality instead of building a world of idealism.

Officially it's Pershing Rifle Pledge Week; commonly it's called "Hell Week." During this period these insignificant "little" people—in the actives' eyes—perform chores normally done by actives. Pledges are assigned any menial task that an active orders, from scrubbing the floor with a toothbrush to shining their superiors' shoes. Physical fitness, demonstrated through the number of push-ups a pledge is able to do, is also stressed.

Counter guerrilla Raiders take a different approach to pledging, emphasizing rigorous physical exercise and combat training. Pledges are encouraged to excel and above all to defeat the actives.

The seemingly rough nature of these pledge periods actually has a very significant purpose, for the most important aspect of the entire experience is the feeling engendered in the pledges. Something inside says that he must do what is demanded and so he performs well. But more than this is the bond of friendship which is formed among the members and almost members of the organization. The feeling is climaxed the day the pledge receives his cord. He is frightened, but ecstatic. He has succeeded. He is now an active.

Military Activities Service Oriented

Members of the Pershing Rifles, Counterguerrilla Raiders, Association of the United States Army, and the young women who are members of the ROTC Brigade, do not keep to their own world, but volunteer their services to the community around them.

PR's and CG's offered the guiding hand that directed and installed freshmen into their new homes and provided the pointing finger that helped their fellow students through the miasma of registration. In December the ROTC Sponsors, Counterguerrillas, and Pershing Rifles represented Eastern in the Governor's inaugural parade.

In March the Military Ball, climaxed by the presentation of Queen Athena, was a gala occasion in the finest tradition of the military. Arched sabers, uniforms bedecked with shining brass, and lovely ladies splendidly arrayed made it one of the major social events of the year.

A puzzled registrant seeks the aid of a CG guide.

Representing the more attractive aspect of Eastern's ROTC Brigade, the Sponsors pass in review at the Governor's inaugural parade.

Religion

Students who are interested in the combined development of their mental, physical, social, and spiritual being can go to parties, picnics, dances, conferences, and retreats provided by the religious groups of the University. Religion is brought to the students on campus by the many different organizations sponsored by various denominations. Some groups have buildings near campus where the students can go for Christian fun and fellowship. Many of the churches downtown open their doors to the groups and encourage them to participate in the life of the church.

Service

Many organizations have worked earnestly to keep Eastern vital. At times these activities remain unnoticed by the students who do not realize the large amount of work it entails to keep our campus functioning. Service organizations gain no profit. Their single reward is pride which resulted from their close association with Eastern and their satisfaction of helping others.

These organizations may be found in any place and at any time, serving and giving their talents in ways that emphasize the University's image of a well-rounded school. Their activities encompassed every aspect of campus life, serving at banquets, working at community centers, participating in tutoring programs, bringing political life to Eastern, and improving school spirit. Their initial hope is that their fellow students will be caught up in the maelstrom of enthusiasm associated with being a part of Eastern.

Alert Progress Coverage Generates Additional Pages

Information and interpretation of the events and crucial issues at Eastern is the task of THE EASTERN PROGRESS.

THE EASTERN PROGRESS, presently in its forty-fifth year of publication, is published weekly throughout the academic year. It serves the campus with a ten-page paper, the largest college publication in the Commonwealth.

Aggressive local reporting provided significant stories on student rights and responsibilities, civil rights, ROTC, and a host of OVC championships. The nationally syndicated columnist Ralph McGill and the analytical cartoons of Hugh Haynie were joined this year by the "Gallery of Great Americans" and the satirical pen of Feiffer.

Special supplements highlighting Eastern's history, athletic achievements, and the fine arts were published during 1967-68. Increased local and national news and views generated sufficient readership and advertising support to increase the size of the paper by two pages.

Milestone— "Child of Confusion"

Hard work, tears, and perseverance do not even begin to describe the effort needed to create the MILESTONE. A chaos of pencils, pictures, papers, and rulers somehow fall into place to form a story of Eastern and the students who live here.

The editors are the ones who must keep a watchful eye over every facet of the book. They do this through skill, patience, and sometimes a sympathetic shoulder or a deadening scream.

The section editors take a special portion of the book and design the pages and try their best to get the pictures they need. The entire staff is needed to accomplish all the jobs, big or small. The MILESTONE is born and developed through spurts of creativity, some shortness of temper, and very often much laughter. It often appears that it shall never be finished, yet, through some heaven-sent "miracle in March," it is.

Pre-Season Goals Become Post-Season Realities

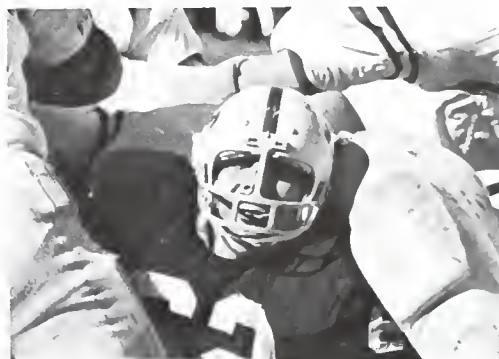

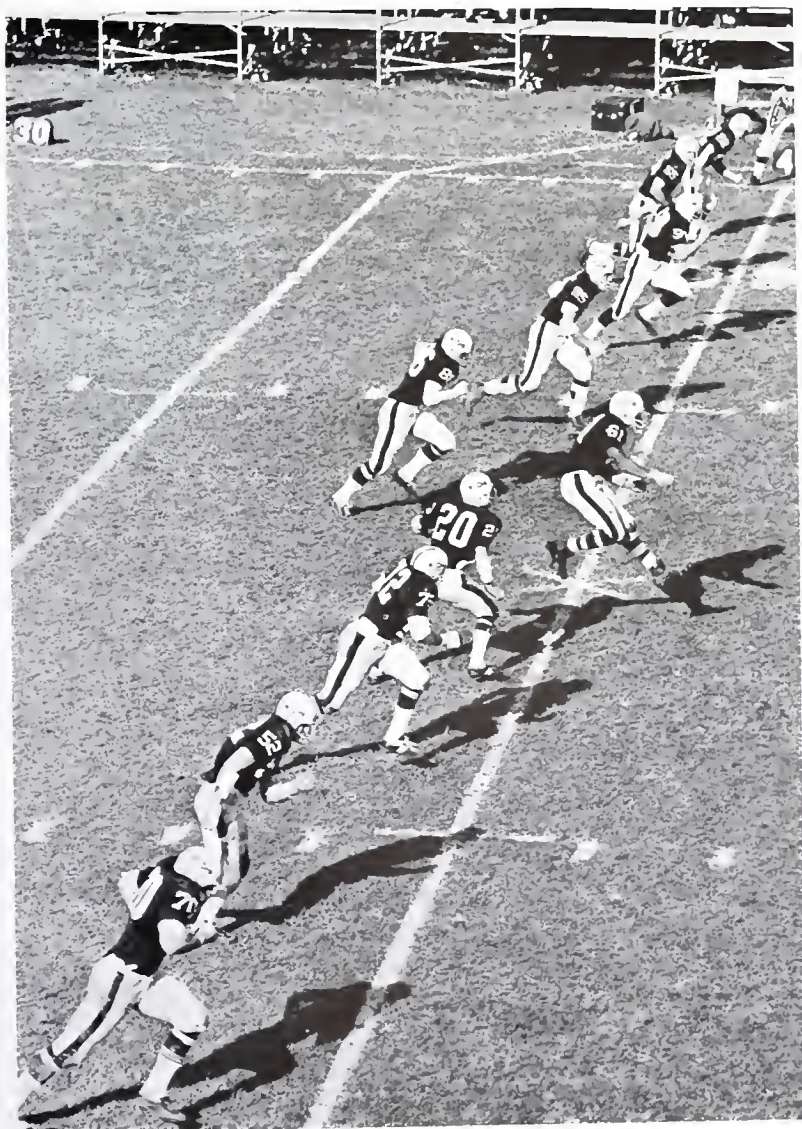

Tim Speaks throws to John Tazel as he runs a sideline pattern.

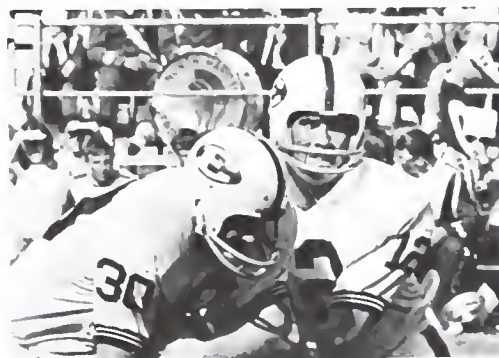

Coach Roy Kidd set three goals for the 1967 Colonels: win the conference championship, get national ratings, and go to a post season bowl. The regular season began and ended disappointingly, but the eight games in between were the best ever for Eastern.

In the opener against Dayton, the Colonels, unable to get their ground attack under way, gained only 34 yards. The Colonels' defense, the more impressive unit, stopped the Flyers' powerful offense twice inside the five.

The Colonels second opponent, East Tennessee, was prepared for a passing attack but not a combined ground and air assault. The Buccaneers, falling 35-7, picked up 39 yards on the ground. Jack McCoy gained 74 yards in 13 carries and Aaron Marsh, displaying his All-America form, caught one touchdown pass from quarterback Jim Guice and returned the second half kickoff 94 yards for a touchdown. Eastern's All-OVC guard, Teddy Taylor, was credited with seven tackles and 14 assists, while all-conference safety, Harry Lenz, picked up six tackles and five assists.

Tennesseans Fall 37-0, 14-7

Sparkling the Colonels to a 37-0 win against Austin Peay, sophomore Tim Speaks took over the reins, filling in at quarterback for the injured Guice. Speak's specialty, the option run, kept the Governors guessing. He completed his first seven passes and finished with two touchdown aerals, to Marsh and John Tazel, respectively. McCoy ran for 132 yards in 20 carries.

The defense remained tough, allowing only 132 yards total offense and no points. Chuck Siemon was named OVC defensive player of the week, producing eight tackles and nine assists, while throwing the passer for losses four times.

Eastern romped to their third consecutive victory after defeating powerful Middle Tennessee 14-7. Returning to action after a two-week layoff, Guice completed eight of 15 passes for 123 yards. McCoy, contained well by the Raider front wall, threw his first pass as a collegian, completing it to Marsh for a 44-yard touchdown. Tazel caught five passes for 70 yards. Freshman cornerback Ted Green sewed up the game for the Colonels in the fourth quarter, returning a Middle Tennessee punt 60 yards for a touchdown.

Once again it was Siemon and Lenz supplying the significant defensive plays for the Colonels. Siemon caught the quarterback for losses three times in the fourth quarter, as well as causing the fumble that stopped the Raiders' last threat. Lenz knocked down two key Middle Tennessee passes.

Eastern 55-Northwood 0—school records were broken that day. Marsh set a NCAA record with 19 receptions for 316 yards and four touchdowns. Guice and Speaks threw 48 passes, completing 28 for 451 yards and six touchdowns. The Colonels combined for 629 yards and 32 first downs.

Then came the heartbreaking 14-14 tie with arch-rival Western. Tied for first place in the conference, the meeting was accurately billed as the OVC game of the year. Early in the third quarter, as Eastern had a second and two situation on the Eastern three-yard line, the determined defense rose to the occasion.

In three plays Western was able to gain two yards, making the first down by a matter of inches. Still on the one-yard line, three plays later, the Hilltopper's Dickie Moore swept around left end and scored. Although Western scored, the tenacious defense received a standing ovation from the fans. Ron Reed and Taylor lead the Headhunters in tackles and assists. Rallying to salvage a tie with the scrambling Hilltoppers, Bob Beck ran the touchdown and Guice converted for two points in the final minutes.

Eastern entered the contest against Murray with four wins, one tie and one loss. The Colonels jumped to an early 21-0 lead, sailing to their fifth victory of the season. The running of Beck, Ted Holcomb, and Foster Horris lead the Eastern team to their best rushing game of the year, gaining 231 yards for a touchdown. Don Moore, Green and Lenz, teaming up with defensive tackles Miller Arritt and Jim Demler, threw Murray for seven loses and combined a total of 15 tackles and 15 assists.

Winning its sixth game 24-0, Eastern's offense ran for a total of 354 yards, while the defense held Tech to 152 yards. Playing Tennessee Tech at home, Eastern seized the lead in the second quarter with Walt Murphy's 35-yard field goal. Two more touchdowns in the second quarter clinched the game for the Colonels. Guice threw his second touchdown pass late in the fourth quarter to Marsh for the final score of the game. Linebacker Jimmy Moberly, who had three tackles and 12 assists, threw the passer for three losses, while defensive end Tom Shelter had three tackles and 10 assists. Shelter also recovered one Tech fumble. Guice completed 20 of 32 passes for 244 yards. Marsh caught

Colonels Capture OVC, Mid-East Championships

12 of these for 156 yards and one touchdown as the Colonels defeated Youngstown 37-12. McCoy led Eastern's ground attack, picking up 118 yards in 21 carries, as Headhunters Arritt and Lenz racked up 14 tackles, 24 assists, and one interception.

The 7-7 tie with Morehead produced the most frustrated conference champions in the country. Eastern scored in the fourth quarter on a pass from Guice to tight end Don Buehler after the touchdown was set up by a Lenz pass interception. The game left the Colonels with a 5-0-2 conference mark and a 7-1-2 record for the season.

After three months of dedication and discipline, the hard-nosed Colonels accepted the long-awaited bid to the Grantland Rice Bowl. This Mid-East Regional Championship game promised to be a battle between Eastern's air attack and Ball State's strong ground game.

Roy Kidd showed why he was the OVC coach-of-the-year as he moved split-end Marsh to tailback. The little All-America senior responded by returning the initial kickoff 21 yards. Eastern then shocked the Cardinals as they streaked 69 yards to score via Marsh's 42 yards in three carries, and three Guice to Tazel aerials.

Eastern's "Headhunter defense" came in fired up to stop State cold and once again the Colonels hit paydirt five plays later with Guice doing the honors from the five-yard line. Walter Murphy converted the PAT.

Eastern retaliated after the Cards amassed a 67-yard scoring drive. Taylor snatched a State handoff and raced 37 yards for the touchdown. The "Headhunters" held the Hoosiers at bay while Guice and Holcomb capped a 91-yard drive with a 23-yard touchdown pass.

Jim Novas scored State's final score late in the fourth period. The game ended on State's one-yard line with Eastern in possession of the pigskin and the Mid-East Regional Championship.

New Coach Starts Strong

Under the leadership of Coach Guy Strong, the Eastern Colonels upset such highly acclaimed teams as Dayton, Marshall, and Western Kentucky.

All-OVC guard Bobby Washington led the Colonels' offense with his pin-point passing and 18.0 scoring average. Giving Eastern a one-two scoring punch was All-OVC senior center Garfield Smith, who averaged 17.1 points and 19.7 rebounds. Smith was the second leading rebounder in the nation. Also giving ample support to the Colonel cause were Willie Woods (14.5), Toke Coleman (11.6) and Boyd Lynch (8.0).

After falling to East Tennessee, 64-50, in the Ohio Valley Conference Tournament, the Colonels made their 1967-68 home debut with a 76-75 upset over the highly regarded Dayton Flyers. Lynch rose to the occasion in his first starting role, scoring 28 points, 22 of them coming in the second half.

Lynch wasn't alone in heraiscs however, as Smith pulled down a game high 23 rebounds, and Woods gave a superb defensive exhibition, holding Dayton's All-America Don May to three field gaals. The Flyers led by seven points at the half, but the Colonels regained the lead at 51-46 behind Lynch's deft shooting from the carner. The veteran Flyers again captured the lead at 73-72 in the last minute of play, but Strong's team was not to be denied, as Gary Paul calmly sank two free throws to seal the victory for Eastern.

Smith's record 33 rebounds and 22 points led the Colonels to their second victory of the young season as Eastern came from behind to defeat the Thundering Herd from Marshall University. The Colanels avercame a ten point deficit in the final period to hand the nationally ranked Marshall five their first defeat of the season.

After downing Tampa, 89-85, in their first road trip, the Colonels suffered their first loss at Miami (Florida). Cald shooting and numeraus floor errars plagued Eastern. Miami gained a 93-87 victory.

Eastern Blasts Western, Middle; Drops Five Straight

cagers humiliated Ball State, 95-66. The Colonels survived a late surge by Austin Peay to capture their first conference victory, 88-83. Eastern dropped its record to 5-2 as Murray stifled the cold-shooting Colonels' second-half surge to hand them their first OVC loss.

Playing impeccable basketball for the first twenty minutes, the hustling Colonels built an insurmountable 56-18 lead, to establish the foundation for a 99-69 defeat of the Hilltoppers from Western. Again the aggressive rebounding of Smith, coupled with four players in double figures, provided the Colonels with their fifth victory.

Eastern fans began to build hopes of an OVC Championship when the Colonels handily defeated Middle Tennessee 98-76. Then the paradox came; Strong's squad hit a slump.

After losing to Virginia Tech, 84-74, and Marshall, 86-71, Eastern returned to Alumni Coliseum hoping to end the streak. However, East Tennessee slipped Eastern its first home loss of the season. Trailing by 10 points at halftime, the Colonels managed to narrow the gap to five points several times during the closing minutes, but the Buccaneers prevailed, 64-50. Eastern shot a cold 30.6% from the field.

Title Hopes Shattered, But Future Optimistic

Ragged defensive play by the Colonel squad allowed St. Francis to deal Eastern its fourth loss in a row. The Colonels then returned to the home state only to find the cage trail just as competitive. In what was possibly Morehead's finest performance of the year, the improved Colonels suffered an 89-80 setback. Morehead substitute Bobby Hiles played a major role in the game, coming off the bench to score 14 points in the final period. Washington paced the Eastern attack with 29 points.

Perched on the gratis stripe for 31 attempts and connecting on 18, Murray nosed out a 68-66 victory over the foul-plagued Colonels. With Eastern forced to abandon their normal aggressive play because of foul trouble, the visiting Racers streaked to a 37-19 lead. Following the impressive play-making of Washington, the Colonels fought back to capture the lead at 49-47. But with Smith on the bench with five fouls, the Racers controlled the boards and charged to a seven point lead. Eastern moved within two points, but missed on three chances in the waning seconds as Murray erased all title chances the Colonels had.

Eastern returned to the win column by defeating Austin Peay, 91-79. Coleman led the Colonel attack with 23 points while Washington connected for 16. Smith shattered Eastern's season rebounding record with another superb performance on the boards, pulling in 15 miscues.

Success was short-lived, however, as East Tennessee rendered the Colonels a 70-67 defeat. The Colonels also dropped the next contest to Miami of Ohio, 84-82, in three overtimes, and Tennessee Tech avenged an earlier loss by defeating the near-miss Colonels, 77-76.

As Eastern downed Morehead, 94-83, in the season's finale, Colonel fans began to take the "wait till next year" attitude with good reason. Although the loss of Smith's rebounding strength will be detrimental, the young Colonels return four starters and two top reserves next season.

Thinclads Take Third Consecutive OVC Title

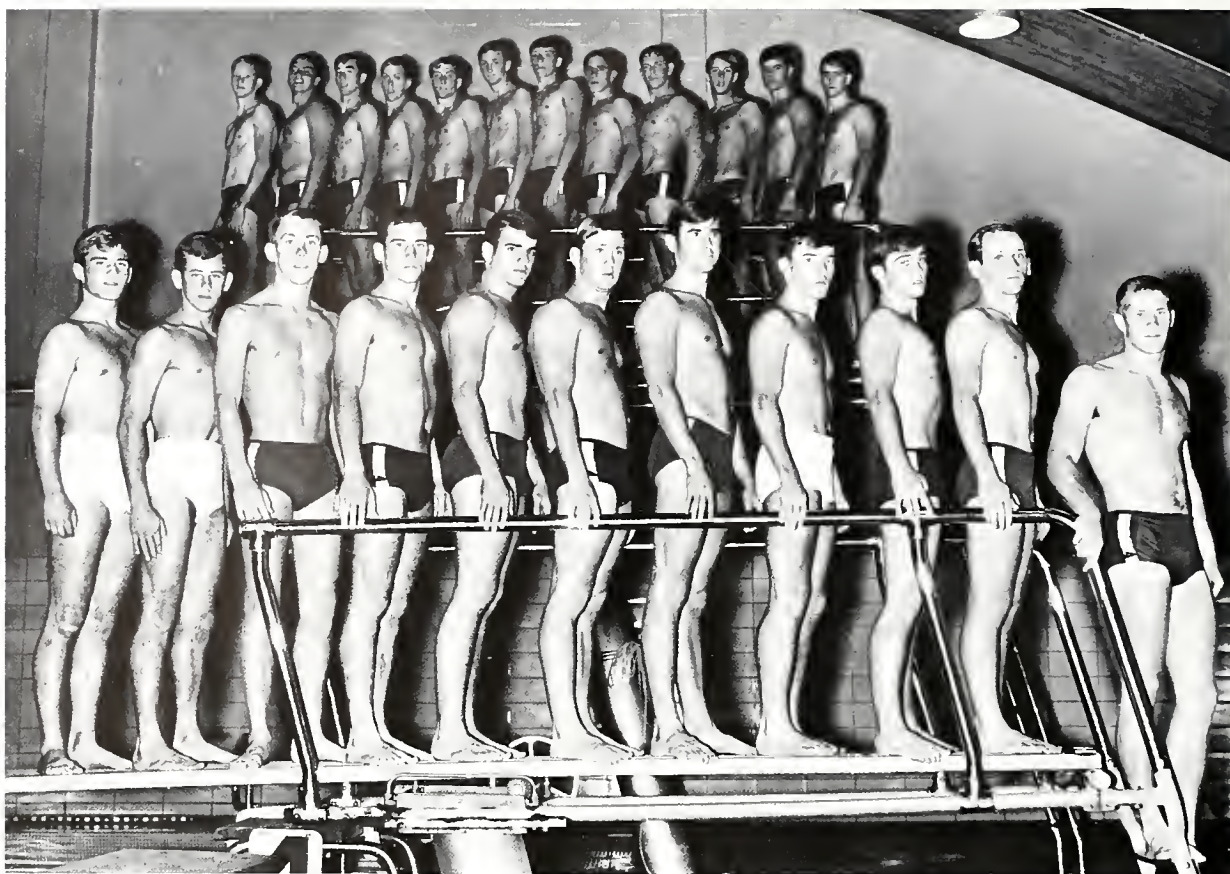

Eastern's mercury-footed thinclads, paced by Grant Colehour, the only four time All-America in Eastern's history, finished the season with a 10-0 record. To Coach Connie Smith it was another normal season as his cross country runners captured their third consecutive OVC cross country title and placed 13th in the NCAA.

On the way to an undefeated season, the Colonels overpowered such opposition as Florida and Florida State. At the Harding Invitational, Eastern captured first place by defeating competition from fourteen schools, including Western; Harding College; and Arkansas State, who finished fourth in the NCAA meet.

Being a champion is nothing new to Eastern's cross country and track coach Connie Smith. Since the fall of 1964, when Coach Smith took over the Colonel helm, Eastern has been a dominant figure in cross country. In four years under Smith's guidance, Eastern has won 37 meets while losing only four. The past three years the Colonels have captured the Ohio Valley Conference title and ranked high in NCAA competition.

Coach Smith, losing only Senior Brent Arnold, anticipates another great season in 1968. Returning will be Colehour, Silviesu, Schol, Cordier, Nichols, Town, Kroiss and Dannenberg.

Eels Take KISC Laurels

After a regular season mark of 11-2, Eastern's power-packed swimming team captured ten of sixteen first places and tied for another in the KISC meet, drowning their nearest rival by 240 points. The Eels took 35-50 medals. Finishing second to Lacy Hagood in the butterfly stroke, All-American Rick Hill nabbed the 100 yard breaststroke and the 200 yard individual medley. The 400 yard free style relay team, composed of Bill Walker, Eddie Shannon, Pete Reed, and Rich Anderson, tied with UK to set a new KISC record of 3:21.4.

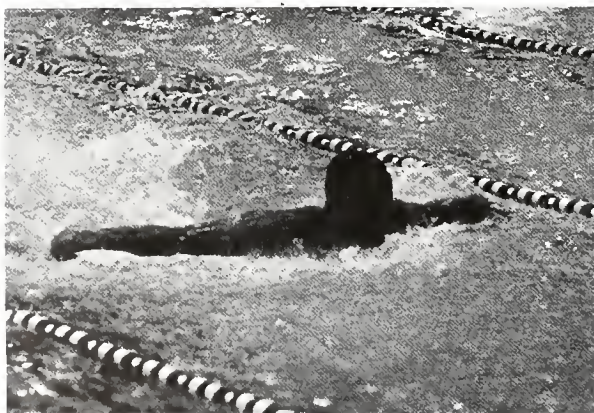

In the NCAA meet, Eastern advanced two places over last year's ratings. With fourteen members qualifying for the finals, ECU emerged with eight All America's and tenth place in the NCAA. All-America men had to place twelfth or better. Walker and Hill earned the honor for the third year as Hagood, Reed, Jim Miller, Steve Dannecker, John Buckner, and Jay Chanley received it for the first time.

Colonels Set OVC Record, Win Tenth Conference Crown

Eastern's hard-slugging Colonels set a conference record by winning their tenth OVC championship in twenty years of play. Power, speed, and good field play were the important factors in the Colonels' 19-10 overall record and conference record of 7-4.

Coach Charles Hughes, OVC Coach-of-the-Year for the second straight year, had this to say about the team, "Much of our success was due to our infield combination, possibly the best in the country." The performance of Arnie Nyulassy, Frank Borgia, Jimmy Cain, and Louis Escobar combined for 38 double plays in 29 games and hit for an average of .380. Cain was the leading hitter with an average of .395, while Borgia was voted the team's "Most Valuable Player".

In addition to the superb hitting and infield skill of Eastern's players, two men on the mound also deserve partial credit for the Colonels' successful season. Ron Andrews and Glen Marshall both posted 5-1 records.

EKU's Sprinters Sparkle

Competing against the talent-rich schools from the Big 10, SEC, and Missouri Valley Conferences, Eastern's cindermen set three meet records at the Indiana Relays. Clarence Lampkin also set new school records in the 400 and 220 with times of 47.4 and 21.4 respectively. With nationally ranked teams attending the Colonels captured the meet with 53 points.

Grant Colehour, Eastern's first three-time All America, led ECU's domination of the Kentucky Federation meet by barely missing the NCAA record of 14:14.8 minutes in the three mile run. At the NCAA College Track and Field Championship, Colehour captured the six run and placed third in the three mile event.

The previously demonstrated excellence of the cindermen pushed them to a strong third in the OVC championship. Hurdler Carey Guess clipped the 120 highs in 14.1 and veteran Colehour handily won the three mile run. Losing only two seniors, the thinclads will undoubtedly be one of the major contenders for next year's laurels.

Linksters Swing Back, Post Winning Season

Eastern's linksters got off to a fast start in the 1967 season by posting a record of 4-2-1 before spring vacation. Returning from the break, they experienced a slump, dropping five consecutive matches. Recovering to win their last nine decisions, the team posted a season record of 13-6-2.

The Colonels' success against top-notched competition such as the universities of Dayton, Cincinnati, Kentucky, and Xavier can be attributed to outstanding players like junior mainstays, Edwin Luxon, Jack Good, Ron Roby, Jim Martin, and freshman Paul Schultz. Highlighting the season was the defeat of Ohio State, the Mid-America champions.

Edwin Luxon takes a practice swing before sinking a putt on eighth green.

Tennis Team Nets 13-5 Record

Eastern's tennis team, coached by Jack Adams, got its season off to a strong start with four consecutive victories. Their first losses came at the hands of Southeastern Conference powers Tennessee and Florida and small college champion Rollins College.

In their next outing the netters rebounded to defeat defending Ohio Valley Conference champion Murray and Western, the coaches' choice to take top conference honors in the 1967 season. The match with Western proved to be the highlight of the season when Sparky Snyder defeated Jackie Cooper, the OVC singles champ who advanced to the semi-finals of the NCAA university division in 1966.

Gaining momentum, the Colonels went on to compile a season record of 13-5, while preparing for the upcoming conference championship tournament. After the tournament, the season's finale, the Colonels found themselves in third place, close behind Western and champion Murray.

Increased Interest Creates Action Packed Intramurals

Intramurals sports have reached an all-time high under the supervision of hard working Barney Groves, Director of Intramurals, who made recreational activities available to every concerned student on campus. The increased involvement of students demanded an expansion and development of new leagues in each major athletic event.

The system now adopted consists of having an independent and a fraternity league. At the end of each season's play, the winners of each division competed for the campus championship.

Taking pride in their squads, many teams created a feeling of homogeneity by equipping themselves with personalized colors and uniforms. Wide interest was reflected by the large number of participants entering each sport. The major attractions, football, basketball, wrestling, and volleyball, had a combined total of 259 spirited teams.

Interest Increases In Women's Intramurals

Women on Eastern's campus enjoy many physical activities sponsored through the intramural program. Athletics such as field hockey, basketball, volleyball, badminton, swimming and tennis round out the sports that women may play.

Teams are composed of women representing sororities, church groups, dormitories and independent organizations. Games are played during the early evening one or two nights a week, which increased women participation over last year's program.

Sharpshooters Show Promise for Future

Lacking in competitive experience, the varsity rifle team has proven to be one of the better squads in this area. Sophomore letterman Tony Gruelle led the inexperienced sharpshooters with a 260 average. Although a minor sport, the practice requires much perseverance and training. With the experience gained this year, the sharpshooters offer the rifle team a promise for future championships.

The class of 1969, under the puissant leadership of Steve Okeson, has in the last year put behind them yet another milestone in their striving to be the most successful class to graduate from Eastern Kentucky University.

With the Prom and all Prom-oriented activities its main concern, the Juniors put in many long hours in preparation for this year-capping event. In order to revolutionize the usual Prom procedures, this year a Prom Concert featuring little Anthony and the Imperials held prior to the dance was scheduled and proved successful. From this, the activities plunged headlong into the Prom itself, with the music being provided by the orchestra of Cecil Jones. With the conclusion of the Prom came the end of Prom weekend, thus bringing to an end another prosperous and active year for the class of 1969.

This year the Sophomore Class blossomed into one of the most ambitious organizations on campus. Under the aggressive leadership of its president, Jim Marcum, the class of '70 has branched out into several areas of endeavor heretofore left untouched by Eastern's previous classes.

In the area of academic achievement, the class offered scholarships to students in various departments whose talents merited rewarding. Not to leave unnoticed the deserving children of the state as well, the class purchased 100 footballs and distributed them to the needy children of the communities surrounding Eastern. Recognizing the need of more activities on campus, the class sponsored several dances throughout the school year for the students and erected huge posters declaring its support of our athletes, thus giving an immeasurable boost to our sometime indifferent school spirit. To be sure, the year of '67-'68 was a richly rewarding experience for the Sophomore Class.

A beautiful fall day is the perfect time to spend a few reflective moments alone in the ravine.

Upheaval was the characteristic which predominantly marked our freshman year. Tossed haphazardly into a world of protocol, research papers, rules, regulations, curfews, and contradictions of every imaginable sort, we fought equally as hard to maintain our sanity and identity, as well as to attain a respectable academic level.

Homecoming, dances, final exams, fraternity and sorority rushes, sporting events, and suitcasing Olympics, all combined to make up the initial period of transition from the safe, settling, and predictable environment of home to the swirling maelstrom of university life. The year over, we emerged battle-proven veterans, confident of handling any matter thrust our way.

Retrospect

1967-68: It went by quickly. There were new friends, new experiences—some to remember a lifetime, others better forgotten. Some of us grew up in a hurry, because he had to; sadly, some of us never will. We learned from it, whether we wanted to or not. Hopefully, we will improve on it.

The 1968 MILESTONE is, above all, a yearbook, a record of the events and the people of 1967-68. But it is our contention that a yearbook should be more than this. Therefore, we have edited a book which we hope will not only bring a smile of remembrance as you look through its pages, but will cause you to take an appraising look at this year, this school, and you.

Now that it is over, editing the MILESTONE doesn't seem as if it were the task that it really was. For the most part, it was a joy, but there were times when we felt that if there were ever a 1968 MILESTONE, it would be in spite of, rather than because of, a good many people.

Perhaps the people to whom we owe the most thanks are Joyce Harville, and Wilma Asbury, managing and assistant editors; our faithful section editors who persevered through more than a few trying times; and the loyal staff members who always did unquestioningly what they were asked. To our "big daddies", Harrell Brooks, Foote and Davies representative, and Don Feltner, our advisor, we also say thanks for advice and encouragement.

We also acknowledge the contributions of the following photographers: Trent Strickland; Dave Rains; Dwaine Riddle; Bobby Whitlock; Rob Kummer; and Nancy Staggs and Dave McKinney, section editors who took pictures in their "spare" time. Special thanks go to John Mullaney, Ron Carroll, Bob Buring, Osborne Photographic Laboratories; and to Michael Coers.
